

Dr. Muhamed Zulkhibri is a Senior Economist at the Research Division of Islamic Research and Training Institute, Islamic Development Bank, Saudi Arabia with substantive experience working in central bank, research and policy-oriented institutions. He has involved in developing Islamic Development Bank country partnership strategy and has undertaken several research and advisory works with central banks, multilateral and development institutions such the World Bank, United Nation, etc. His research interests are in the area of monetary economics, macroeconomics, Islamic financial institutions and applied econometrics. He lectures for undergraduate and post-graduate program at the University of Nottingham United Kingdom and University Putra Malaysia respectively. He has published extensively in leading academic journals, regulatory publications, and the financial press and reviewer for various journals such as Quarterly Journal of Economics, Economic Modelling, Journal Comparative Economic Studies, and others as well as presented his works at many research conferences across the globe. He holds a doctoral degree in economics from the University of Nottingham, United Kingdom and a certified financial planner.