

Short Profile – Samir Alamad

Samir Alamad has a vast and extensive knowledge of Sharia and Islamic finance. He is a member of the Accounting and Auditing Organisation for Islamic Financial Institutions and he is a Certified Sharia Advisor and Auditor (CSAA) by AAOIFI. He works currently at Al Rayan Bank PLC as the Head of Sharia Compliance and Product Development and associated with Aston Business School. He is also an accredited training provider by CISI for Islamic Finance Qualification (IFQ).

He has developed and launched various Sharia compliant financial products in the UK. He has been instrumental in advancing financial inclusion of British Muslims by advising the British Government across different governmental departments on Islamic finance initiatives and the development of an alternative Sharia compliant finance products.

Samir has published professional articles, delivered numerous training sessions, lectures and workshops in Islamic banking and finance. He has also taken part in various TV and radio discussions and debates about Islamic finance.